The link above will take you to one, convenient page that will have links to every product, plus important instructions. I will also include the individual links below.

 I will continue to add more prompts and updates so check back often.

How to duplicate these databases?

💡 If you don't have an Airtable account, no problem. You can view and use this base whenever you'd like. Just copy any prompt you want from any cell.

💡 If you do have an Airtable account or want to create one (it's FREE). In the top/left corner of this database, there is a button that says "copy database"

💡 You can also export them as a CSV file and/or export them into Google Drive/Sheets.

💡 And the easiest method, copy/paste: You can always copy any prompt out of any of my databases.

Please note that you may use these databases to create end products for your personal use. However, you MAY NOT resell this database, or an edited version of this database, in its editable Airtable database format. This database is meant for personal use only. You may not distribute or share the links contained in this guide or the actual database link itself. You may copy my database into your own Airtable database, copy/paste any prompt or migrate the prompts contained in this database into your own, chosen platform (other than Airtable), i.e. Google Drive/Sheets, Notion, etc.
